Referencing a book:

1. Surname and First Name of author.
2. Title of book (in italics)
4. Place of publication
5. Publisher
6. Date

For Example:

If you need to stop reading before you reach the end, Word remembers where you left off - even on another device.

You can also type a keyword to search online for the video that best fits your document.

Video provides a powerful way to help you prove your point. When you click Online Video, you can paste in the embed code for the video you want to add.

Bibliography:

Notice in the footnotes that point 4 was from the same book as point 3 so ibid can be used instead as they follow on from one another whereas 1 and 5 though from same book have other references between them so have to written again but not fully.

In the footnotes only the initials of the author are required.

More than one author: The usual rule in this style is more than 3 authors, it is always the first named author and et al in both the footnote and Bibliography. Three authors et al is only used in the footnote.

---

3 Ibid.
4 Brown, et al., Assessing Student Learning in Higher Education